Aim

The primary aim of this program is to develop leadership capacity across Muslim communities in North America. The type of leaders that will enable the Muslim community to develop strategies to contribute fully for the common good of both the Muslim and wider society.

This course will also allow participants to realize their own leadership styles and to enhance and evolve their skills to ensure more productive and efficient working methods.

Philosophy

- The education principles underpinning the program use adult learning models and require participants to fully and actively engage in the process of learning.
- This program will enable participants to explore assumptions, beliefs and attitudes about themselves, the organizations in which they work, the environments in which they operate and the wider society - in order to enable them to 'do differently' where necessary and possible in their everyday lives.

Learning Outcomes

The key learning outcomes sought are as follows:

- To develop and enhance participants' core leadership capacity
- To provide an environment for participants to explore their assumptions, ideas, and deepen their values and ethical framework
- To develop leadership skills to enable Muslims to participate in wider society
- To deepen participants' self-awareness, self-development, reflective practice and emotional intelligence
- To develop participants' understanding of the diversity and dynamics of the Muslim community
